Caste Discrimination: Is the Government Blocking Reform? ACC Room 7

The government was supposed to consult last summer on making caste discrimination unlawful.

Why hasn't it happened?

Why should it matter?

Do we really have caste discrimination in the UK today?

With

- Julian Huppert MP
- Jo Swinson MP, our minister in the Government Equalities Office (CONFIRMED)
- Meena Varma, Director of the Dalit Solidarity Network

Chaired by Gordon Lishman
